Dewey Promises Teamwork Idea's Return In Wins

By JACK BELL.

EN ROUTE WITH DEWEY TO BOSTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey promised today if elected to bring back to government the good old-fashioned American idea of teamwork.

He told a crowd at Pittsfield, Mass., that the Democrats don't know "how to get there even when they find the direction" in which government policies should go.

Heading for Boston and a major address there at 8 p. m. (CST) on his plans for social welfare legislation, the Republican nominee also had scheduled talks at Springfield, Worcester and Framingham.

Few "Boos" Heard.

There were a few "boos" from the crowd as Dewey was greeted with a big cheer at Pittsfield.

Dewey had previously pledged speedy action to block the advance of Communism in Asia if he is elected president.

This pledge came in the form of an assertion at Cleveland last night that this country must strengthen its bonds with non-Communist China.

Dewey's plug for quick aid to China was in line with the known feeling of some of his top advisers that the Soviets are being permitted— almost by default—to make great gains in Asia while the world's attention is centered on the Berlin blockade.

These advisers give some credence to the theory that it is a part of a Russian stall in Berlin to keep the world's eyes off Asia.

China in Peril.

Dewey put some of this thought into words when he told an audience estimated at 13,000 persons which gave him an ovation in the Cleveland auditorium last night:

"It is very late and all China is in grave peril. We will renew and strengthen our ancient ties of friendship with this great wartime ally."

The New York governor accused the Truman administration of being "fumbling and weak" in its handling of world problems. He said it had made "tragic concessions" in many parts of the world.

"By consent of our government," he declared, "the Soviet has reached far out into the Pacific in the Kurile Islands near our own Aleuptians.

Red Expansion Hit.

"In a little more than three years the Soviet has extended its

TRUMAN SAYS DEWEY "IS ON THE RUN-- RIGHT BEHIND ME"

PRESIDENT PREDICTS GOP DEFEAT, SPEEDING HIS OWN FINAL DRIVE

BY LEWIS B. VACCARO

WITH TRUMAN ENROUTE TO NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—President Truman said today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey "is on the run" and "he is running right behind me."

The President told a throng at Providence, R. I., that the Republican "pipedream of victory is going up in smoke next Tuesday."

Mr. Truman struck out directly at Dewey in this long-time Democratic stronghold and drew wild cheers from the big crowd as he told them:

Large Crowds Present.

"I defy you to say where the Republican candidate stands on anything. He doesn't dare to tell the people."

Police estimates of the crowds that met the President in Providence ranged up to 50,000.

Swinging into Rhode Island after a day and a half of campaigning in Massachusetts, the President appeared in high spirits and told the crowd he had some good news —then predicted Massachusetts would go Democratic by at least 100,000 votes.

The President praised Rhode Islanders for standing firm behind the Democratic party in the face of a national Republican trend two years ago and said he was sure this New England state would be in the Democratic column again this year—"all the way down the line."

Poll Takers Hit.

Mr. Truman said good reports were coming to him from all over the country and added the Republican poll takers were going to "fall flat on their faces" when they see the election results.

He is enroute to New York for a major campaign talk at 9:30 p. m. (CST) in Madison Square Garden, after a Boston warning to Russia "we shall not retreat" from Berlin.

Mr. Truman asserted in Boston: "It's time for the American people to cast their ballots for liberty at the polls next Tuesday—liberty from the Republican 80th donothing congress."

Thousands of Bostonians, crammed into Mechanics hall last night cheered lustily as he declared: "I

Jester, Daniel To Ask Better State Vote Probe Laws

By The Associated Press.

Gov. Beauford Jester plans to ask the next legislature to give the state power to investigate charges of election fraud and irregularity.

The governor announced his plan in Austin late yesterday. It was inspired by developments in the controversy between former Gov. Coke Stevenson and Rep. Lyndon Johnson over the state's Democratic nomination to the U. S. senate.

Jester said Texas laws now "neither grant the governor power nor impose on him any duty to initiate any investigations of alleged fraud and irregularities."

Other Developments.

Johnson, 10th District congressman, won the nomination by 87 votes out of nearly a million in the run-off primary election against Stevenson last August.

There were these other developments in the fight:

1. The senate stretched its runoff investigation to take in eight counties where Johnson said the vote might have been affected by local contests, changes in returns and other factors. Johnson had asked for the investigation, charging that fraudulent returns were reported in five South Texas counties.

MORE PROBERS SENT

ALICE, Tex., Oct. 28—(AP)—Three more investigators sent by the U. S. Senate joined two already here today in a widening probe of the Aug. 28 Democratic runoff primary voting in Jim Wells county.

In other developments here this morning:

1. District Attorney Frank B. Lloyd announced that no action would be taken in Duval county concerning the burning of the second primary records until the grand jury meets in January.

2. At the request of the County Republican Committee, the commissioners court was called into session this morning. The republicans had asked that election judges Luis Salas and J. R. Rojas be dismissed. These two already have resigned. The Republicans asked also that the commissioners court include Republicans in their appointment of precinct judges and increase the number of judges from two to four in all precincts, as provided under Texas law.

NAVARRO COUNTY'S BALLOTS IN BOTH PRIMARIES BURNED

COURTHOUSE FIREMAN SAYS IT IS CUSTOM, HAD NO INSTRUCTIONS

Ballots of the first and second Democratic primaries in Navarro county were burned last week.

Dave Kinnemore, fireman and yard man, employed by tht county for more than 30 years, said he followed his custom through the years of burning the old ballots when he prepared the ballot boxes and other supplies for the general election, November 2.

Kinnemore said no one told him to burn them, but just did like he has been doing for years. Democratic chairman many years ago, he said, told him to keep thef for a few weeks and if no contest, destroy them.

Only One Set of Locks

There are plenty of election boxes, but the locks and keys used have been lost and broken until there are only enough for one election set, Kinnemore said.

When the primaries were held, the election boxes used are those belonging to the county and when the judges make their returns and bring in the boxes, they are stored in the basement of the vault in the county clerk's office. They are not kept by the Democratic executive committee officials, although such a practice was observed many years ago.

Special County Judge Joe D. Huttstutler said Thursday morning it was the first time he knew anything about it—that he had not discussed or authorized any ballots burned. J. V. Harwell, county clerk, is reported out of town on a trip.

No Impounding Ordered

Paul Moore, secretary of the Navarro County Democratic executive committee, knew nothing of the matter until he asked Kinnemore about the matter after seeing reports from other points that ballots had been involved.

No notice or request of impounding Navarro county ballots in the senatorial contest has been indicated either from the Coke R. Stevenson or Lyndon Johnson forces.

Stevenson carried Navarro county, 2713 to 1870, in the run-off primary.

REP. MILTON J. WEST

Representative West Of Texas Dies In Capital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Rep. Milton H. West of Texas died today. He was 60 years old.

West had served in the House since April 1933. A Democrat, he succeeded John Nance Garner when the latter became vice-president.

The congressman had been suffering for several months from lymphoma, a disease of the lymph glands. He announced some time ago he would retire from congress next January at the end of his current term.

West was a member of the ways and means committee.

Former Texas Ranger.

West, former Texas Ranger, Texas district attorney, and state legislator, beat six opponents to go to congress from the 15th district in 1933.

He won a special election choosing a successor to John Nance Garner, who had been elected vice-president of the United States.

West won again in 1934 and 1936. From that year until 1946 he was unopposed. Because of his illness he did not seek reelection this year. Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., of McAllen, Texas, gained the Democratic nomination to succeed him.

Home Town Brownsville.

The West home is at Brownsville but he owned a ranch near Mission, which also is in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

West's wife is the former Temple Worley, daughter of pioneer Matagorda county, Texas, setlers. He had one son, Milton H. West, Jr., who was a Navy lieutenant commander, and now is an attorney in Houston, Texas.

The 15th Texas congressional district lies along the Rio Grande, which marks the border between the United States and Mexico. West was a strong supporter of the U. S.-Mexico water treaty which was finally ratified in November, 1945.

Jack Porter Is Scheduled Here Friday At Noon

Jack Porter, Republican nominee for the post of United States senator, will make his first political appearance in Corsicana Friday, when he will be guest of honor at a luncheon at the Navarro Hotel according to advices from his Houston campaign headquarters.

Some 200 guests, composed of farmers from neighboring communities, and local educators and business men, will hear a speech by Porter at 12:45, it was stated.

The senatorial candidate, who has just finished a tour of West Texas, made the second of three state-wide speeches via air waves Wednesday night from San Antonia, and his luncheon speech here will be broadcast.

Eleven Nazis Get 3 Years To Life For War Crimes

NUERNBERG, Germany, Oct. 28—(AP)—An American court today imposed sentences ranging from three years to life imprisonment on 11 of Germany's top military commanders for atrocities in World War II.

The 11 were convicted on war crimes charges after a nine-month trial. Two fellow defendants, Field Marshall Hugo Sperrle and Adm. Otto Schniewind, were acquitted.

Greying, handsome Lt. Gen. Walther Warlimont, 54, found to be one of Hitler's top advisers in drafting summary execution orders against allied Commandos and Soviet army political Commissars, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

One Gets Release

The same penalty was meted out to Lt. Gen. Hermann Reincke, 60, who was charged with issuing similar orders. Reincke served as a military member of a Peoples' Court which tried the group which sought to assassinate Hitler in July 1944.

The lightest sentence, three years in prison, went to 72-year-old Field Marshal Wilhelm Von Leeb. He was convicted on one count of atrocities against civilians on the Russian front.

The court ruled that all time already served by the defendants since their capture on May 7, 1945, will be knocked off the sentences. This meant that Von Leeb will be set free at once.

All 13 were tried principally on charges of plotting to start World War II. The court, however, found they did not rate high enough to decide war or peace and gave them a blanket acquittal on that charge.

The three-man tribunal yesterday found all 13 defendants innocent of plotting to start World

ECONOMIC SANCTIONS TO ENFORCE TRUCE IN PALESTINE URGED

MAJOR POWERS SAID IN FAVOR OF USING NON-MILITARY POWER

BY EDWARD CURTIS

PARIS, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Britain and China proposed today that the United Nations use economic sanctions to force peace in Palestine.

France, Belgium and Canada announced support and a reliable source said the United States also would vote for the resolution. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine did not make known their positions.

The debate will be resumed tomorrow in the Security Council. Russia asked for a two-day postponement but Warren Austin, the American council president, ruled at adjournment today there would be no delay. The council meets again tomorrow.

Israel Rejects Orders.

Israel has rejected orders of the U. N. mediator of Palestine, Ralph Bunche, that her troops withdraw from positions won in the Negev Desert in a week of battle with Egypt. Egypt's complaint that Israel is violating the U. N. cease-fire order brought up the issue.

The British-Chinese proposal was advanced under Article 21, chapter seven of the U. N. charter which sets forts actions "not involving the use of armed force" by which the Council may enforce its decisions. These include breaking economic and diplomatic relations.

Britain, France and China have not recognized Israel. The United States, Russia and many smaller nations have.

Resolution Offered.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain offered the council a draft resolution calling for a special committee to "examine urgently" the action the council might take under Article 41, chapter seven, of the U. N. charter. That article reads:

"The Security Council may decide what measures not involving the use of armed force are to be employed to give effect to its decisions, and it may call upon the members of the United Nations to apply such measures. These may include complete or partial interruption of economic relations and rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio, and other means of communications, and the severance of diplomatic relations."

Dr. T. F. Tsiang of China declared stronger measures were needed to enforce the truce in the turbulent Palestine situation.

Truce In Danger.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U. N. Palestine mediator, told the council the Negev hostilities might wreck the Palestine truce. He said the time has come for "bolder and broader action."

Bunche said the language of the council's Oct 19 cease-fire order might be considered by some to be ambiguous. But, he added, his interpretation of the order was that Israel and Egypt must withdraw their troops from the front before negotiations are undertaken on other outstanding problems.

He said the council had laid down the principle that no military advantage should be gained by either side during the truce.

Negotiation Sought.

Israel has rejected the troops withdrawal provision, declaring the language of the resolution called for negotiation on that point.

Cadogan asserted the council "could not close its eyes to what has happened in Southern Pales-

Portion Of Army Starts Another Revolt In Peru

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 28—(AP)—The government rushed loyal troops to its defense today after an army garrison revolted at Arequipa. It was Peru's second major rebellion within 25 days.

President Jose Luis Bustamante Rivero's government announced late last night that Brig. Manuel Odria, commandant of the Arequipa garrison and a former minister of government (interior), and troops under his command had launched an insurrection.

A communique, which gave no details of the progress of the revolt, said the government was taking "necessary measures to subdue the subversive movement."

Some Troops Loyal

The government said troops at Lima, the capital, and other garrisons in the north and south had remained loyal. Arequipa is in southern Peru, about 135 miles from the Bolivian border. The president broadcast a message to the nation denouncing the Arequipa revolt as the work of a small group of "ambitious and resentful" men.

He warned that the government was ready to act firmly and appealed to the rebels to lay down their arms.

Bustamante said during his three years in office he had been forced to deal on the one side with "the damogogic Marxist Apra (leftist political party)" and on the other with "a small ultra rightist group which wanted all privileges."

Rightist Group Blamed

Bustamante said the "starving" rightist group was responsible for the revolt at Arequipa.

Disorders previously occurred at Arequipa early this month during an uprising which began Oct. 3 at Callao, Lima's port city.

The Oct. 3 revolt was blamed by the government on the leftist Apra party.

The government at that time rounded up more than 100 members of the Apra party, including leaders in the Peruvian parliament. The party is pledged to social reform and land measures which include division of large estates.

Last July, an army garrison rebelled at Juliaca in southeast Peru, but government forces stamped out resistance in a few days.

U. S., Britain And Others 'Aggressive,' Red Charges But 'Warmongers' To Fail

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Oct. 28—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin accused the United States, Britain and the so-called neutral states of the United Nations security council today of supporting a policy which can lead to the "unleashing of a new war."

The Soviet leader added, however, that the presnt international crisis "can only end in an ignominious failure on the part of the instigators of a new war."

Stalin answered a series of questions put to him by a reporter of Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, on the Berlin controversy.

U. N. Members Criticized

The prime minister criticized China, Canada, Colombia, Syria, Belgium and Argentina for their actions in the security council at Paris during the Berlin discussions. (These six nations attempted to mediate the big power quarrel over Berlin, but Russia vetoed their proposed compromise Monday).

"Those gentlemen are obviously lending their support to a policy of aggression—to a policy of unleashing a new war," Stalin asserted.

"The point is," Stalin went on, "that the inspirers of the aggressive policy of the United States of America and Britain do not consider themselves interested in agreement and cooperation with the U.S.S.R.

"Talk" Said Wanted

"They want not agreement and cooperation but talk about agreement and cooperation, in order to thwart agreement, to throw the blame on the USSR and, by so doing, prove the impossibility of cooperation with the USSR.

"The instigators of war, who are striving to unleash a new war, fear more than anything else agreement and cooperation with the USSR, since a policy of agreement with the USSR undermines the positions of the war mongers and deprives the aggressive policy of these gentlemen of its obective.

"Precisely for this reason they disrupt agreements already reached, disavow their representatives who have reached such agreements with the USSR and transfer the question, in violation of the U. N. charter, to the security council, where they possess an assured majority and where they can 'prove' anything.

"Policy of Aggression"

"All this is done in order to demonstrate the impossibility of cooperating with the USSR, to demonstrate the necessity of a new war and thus prepare the conditions for the unleashing of war.

"The policy of the present leaders of the United States and Britain is a policy of aggression and the unleashing of a new war."

"What can all this end in?" asked the correspondent.

Stalin replied:

"It can only end in an ignominious failure on the part of the instigators of a new war. (Winston) Churchill, the main instigator of the new war has already managed to deprive himself of the trust of his own nation and of democratic forces throughout the world.

No New War Seen

"The same fate lies in store for all other instigators of war. The horrors of the recent war are still too fresh in the memories of peoples and public forces favoring peace are too strong for Churchill's pupils in aggression to overpower them and to set a course for a new war."

"Is it true," the Pravda correspondent asked, "that in August of his year agreement had already been reached among the four powers on the question of Berlin?"

"Yes," said Stalin, "this is true.

CHURCHILL UNDAUNTED

LONDON, Oct. 28—(AP)—Winston Churchill told Parliament today that only the atom bomb prevents "the enslavement of Europe by Communist forces directed by the Kremlin."

He called for both secret and open debate on the state of British defenses. He said the Conservative party he heads can accept no responsibility for the present condition of British armed forces.

Stalin Comments Said Propaganda By U.N. Sources

PARIS, Oct. 28—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin's comments on the Berlin deadlock are "factually untrue," western sources at United Nations headquarters said today.

"Pure propaganda," one of these sources commented.

The Russian leader's interview with Pravda caused a flurry in the Palais de Chaillot, where the U. N. assembly is meeting.

Newspapermen with copies of the question-and-answer text were besieged by delegates. Secretary-General Trygve Lie sent for a copy.

Representative western forces said Stalin was wrong when he declared the four-power pact of Aug. 30 was an agreed solution to the Berlin dispute. Agreement on the pact, they said, was subject to agreement on putting it into effect by the four military governments in Germany.

One informant added that if the Russians agreed to any solution to the Berlin dispute in the private talks in Paris, the western powers had not been informed of it.

The only agreement on Berlin drawn up in Paris that this source knew of "was the one the 'little six' and we agreed on and (Soviet delegate) Andrei Vishinsky tried to change at the last minute." Russia vetoed the six-power proposal on Berlin Monday.

Vishinsky was delivering a speech on the Greek question when news of the interview reached the United Nations. He rushed out of the political com-

Reds Demand U.S. Disclose Topics Of Jap Meeting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Soviet Russia's Ambassador Panyushkin demanded today that the United States disclose what took place at a "secret military conference" he said Gen. Douglas MacArthur held this month at Tokyo

Panyushkin told the 11-nation Far Eastern commission a press report had said the conference was held Oct. 12-14. He said it dealth with "measures against a surprise attack on Japan."

"It is known for everyone that nobody threatens Japan," the Soviet envoy said in a statement. It added:

"The Soviet delegation considers it necessary that the U. S. representative on the FEC inform the commission on the substance of this question."

Reply Not Disclosed.

The Soviet embassy issued the ambassador's statement after a weekly meetng of the commisson, whose proceedings are held behind closed doors.

Whether Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, the U. S. representative and commission chairman, or another American spokesman replied was not immediately disclosed.

(An Associated Press story from Tokyo Oct. 14 said the American commanders in the Pacific and Alaska had held a three-day conference with MacArthur in the Japanese capital.

Defense Discussed.

(The news dispatch said they discussed measures to prevent another Pearl Harbor. Informed sources there said the talks concerned two points: (1) Practical precautions against the possibility of another surprise attack; and (2) "co-operation and co-ordination" among the army, navy and air force.

(Meeting with MacArthur were Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commanding the Alaska defenses, and Vice Admiral John L. McCrea deputy commander of the U. S Pacific fleet.).

British Chief In Germany Sees No War For Months

BERLIN, Oct. 28—(AP)—The British commander in Germany said yesterday he expected "no war in Europe for the next few months."

Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, the British military governor, told a news conference, however, he did not care to predict what might happen beyond that period.

He said also that withdrawal of occupational troops might be the only way to solve the German problem.

Qualification Made

But here, too, he added a major qualification.

"It is my opinion," he said, "withdrawal may well be the only means of resolving the difficulties that have led to allied disagreement.

"However before one could adopt such a solution one must be sure conditions are satisfactory for withdrawal.

Withdrawal Dangerous

"If there is any question of the peace of Europe not being secure it might be dangerous for such a withdrawal. One must be sure the Germans would be free—really free—to run their own affairs. It would be unwise if the Germans were to fall victims of some small well-organized minority."

Robertson observed the Russians have organized a "police force" for their zone of Germany now numbering 200,000, with the "final figure reported to be 400,000."

The western allies have looked on this force as a Russian scheme to turn Germany into a police state which would be Communist-controlled after the occupation troops leave.

Here's Explanation Of Constitutional Amendments To Be On Texas General Election Ballot Next Tuesday

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are three articles explaining the eight constitutional amendments on which Texans will vote next Tuesday in the general election.)

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 28—(AP)—Texans will take an official stand Nov. 2 on three questions relating to the welfare and regulation of certain of their public servants.

The questions—presented by three proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on in the general election—are these:

Three Questions

1. Should Texas provide retirement benefits for its judges?

2. Should all county and precinct law enforcement officers receive salaries instead of being compensated on the fee basis?

3. Shoull counties be allowed to provide workmen's compensation insurance for their employes?

The voters will decide only the principle of judicial retirement — whether or not the legislature should set up a plan. Left entirely to legislative decision would be such specific details as compensation, length of service, age or disability, and reassignment to active duty where and when needed. The amendment covers judges and commissioners of appeals courts and judges of the district and criminal courts.

Advocates of the plan argue that additional incentive must be provided for those who sacrifice financial attractions of privite practice to serve on the bench at a fixed salary.

Eighth on Ballot

Opponents contend that the state provides no retirement for any of its other elected officials.

The amendment is eighth on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 39.

The proposed amendment replacing fees with salaries for all county and precinct law enforcement officers is self-enacting, requiring nothing more than a favorable vote to put in into effect.

It applies to all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, county law enforcement officers including sheriffs who also perform the duties of assessor and collector of taxes, and their deputies, constables, deputy constables and precinct law enforcement officers.

Salaries are now mandatory only for county officers in counties of 20,000 or more population, commissioners' courts being empowered to choose between salaries or fees, in other cases.

The amendment is sixth on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 36.

The workmen's compensation insurance proposal would authorize the legislature to set up laws to enable all counties to provide the insurance for their employes. The county could carry its own insurance risk if it so desired. State laws yet to be enacted—if the amendment is adopted—would govern the administration of the system.

Senator Connally Calls On Texans To Stand By Demo Party, Nominees

"As for myself I shall support the Democratic nominees from President down to the humblest office in Texas," Connally said in a radio speech prepared for delivery at 12:15 p. m. today. "I believe in party integrity and party solidarity. It is only through our party organization that the masses of the people can make known the policies they advocate."

Senate Race Mentioned.

Connally's only reference to the senatorial race was in his statement:

"In Texas the Honorable Beauford Jester is the Democratic nominee for governor and the Honorable Lyndon Johnson is the nominee of the Democratic party for U. S. senator and the Democratic party has made nominations for state and county officers."

He then said he would support the straight Democratic ticket.

Connally said that he was making his speech at the request of the Democratic National Committee and the Democratic State Executive Committee of Texas.

Depression Cited.

"The Democratic party is standing on itas unrivalled record of high public service since 1933," he declared.

"Can you ever forget the gloom and dark bitter days of the Hoover administration?" he asked. "Who was it that dispelled that gloom? Who was it that restored prosperity. Who gave new hope to agriculture, commerce and industry?

"The truth cannot be concealed. You know and I know that it was through Democratic policies and Democratic philosophy.

"Today the nation's income is more than two hundred billion dollars annually. In 1932 it was 38 billion. Farmers, compare your prices; businessmen, look at your books."

Great Reforms Seen.

Connally said that the Democrats had accomplished great reforms which challenged the Republican party and its candidates. He said that Thomas E. Dewey spoke in glittering generalities.

He said also that Dewey claimed credit for the nation's non-partisan foreign policy but that in truth the non-partisan policy was established in the senate committee on foreign relations "long before Dewey was an unsuccessful candidate for President."

Connally is a member of the senate foreign relations committee and its former chairman.

tine." He said if Jewish forces were permitted to retain positions gained after Oct. 14, "it would be a display of weakness by the council."

Aubrey S. Eban of Israel told the council the Egyptial forces were invaders. He said the British-Chinese resolution proposed to "restore its fortune" and added:

Egypt Advantage Seen.

Eban told the council Israeli forces were being asked "to break themselves up into fragments" and to surrender control of communications routes between Israel and the Negev. Israel then, he said, would have to ask Egypt's permission to use supply routes to the Jewish settlements in the desert.

Eban said he agreed with Bunche that direct negotiations between the Arabs and the Jews should begin immediately. Arabs, however, have always refused to deal directly with Jewish authorities. The Arabs say that would be tacit admission of the existence of a Jewish state.

Fuad Amoun of Lebanon gave his support to the British-Chinese resolution. He said Egypt was prepared to abandon the positions it had taken during the Negev outbreak.

But, he warned, "what has been done by force, can be undone by force."

Syria's Faris El Khouri told the council that "Jaffa, Acre and East and West Galilee were occupied by the Jewish forces under the truce and in violation of the truce on several occasions."

"All aggression took place under the shade of the truce or before last May 15 under the shade of the mandate of the United Kingdom," he said.

The Syrian said Eban spoke of an invasion of Palestine by Arab forces.

"These Jewish troops," asked Khouri, "from where do they come? From over the seas, from over the mountains?"

El Khouri said Arab forces crossed the frontier into an Arab country to "restore order."

He said agreement was reached on the passage of convoys into the Negev. He added the next step was for Jewish forces to withdraw.

"We consider the withdrawal is essential for the preservation of the truce, not only in the Negev, but throughout all Palestine," he said.

Israel Forces Gain.

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Israeli forces occupied Isdud, midway between Tel Aviv and Gaza, without opposition today after some 2000 Egyptians pulled out of the area.

The Egyptian move southward, concentrated them on the lower tip of the Isdud Majdal sector. They are believed hemmed in an a 10-mile coastal strip.

Israeli headquarters said Egyptians were seen Tuesday and yesterday drawing to the south of the pocket where the Israeli wedge at Hanun cuts off the route to Gaza, five miles farther south.

Headquarters said late yesterday Arab villages from Isdud came ta the Jewish lines and said Arab troops had left. They asked Israeli forces to enter peacefully, the communique added.

He was born June 30, 1888, in Gonzales County, Texas, the son of Milton Crockett West and Pauline Cocke West.

His great-grandfather was Claiborne West, a signer of Texas Declaration of Independence and prominent in the revolution of 1835. His mother was the granddaughter of Maj. Gen. John Cocke, who commended Tennessee forces under Andrew Jackson in the Creek Indian war of 1813.

He spent his youth in Floresville, Wilson county, Texas. He went to school at West Texas Military Academy at San Antonio. There he gained a local reputation as a left-handed pitcher.

Ranger On Border.

The years 1911-1912 saw West's family moved to Mercedes, near the Rio Grande, and West riding the border section as a Texas Ranger.

He went back to Floresville to study law in the office of James A. King. In 1915 he was admitted to the Texas Bar and practiced as King's partner.

During the First World War he moved to Brownsville, where he had since resided.

He practiced law privately at Brownsville until he was named district attorney for the Brownsville-Corpus Christi area in 1922. That term ended in 1925 and he was assistint district attorney from 1927 to 1930. He went to the Texas legislature in 1930, and was serving there when he ran for Garner's unexpired term.

Slamming at Mr. Truman's conduct of foreign affairs, Dewey said—without naming his opponent: "We shall not achieve peace by conducting these desperately important matters on a happy-thought basis or by jovially remarking that we like good old Joe."

Some months ago the president said he likes "Old Joe" Stalin but believes him a prisoner of the politburo.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Want To Join Our Club?

Newcomers to our town are puzzled when they hear talk of "The Barbecue Club." Want to know who can join, and what the purpose is.

Well, the answer is: any one can join who's neighborly inclined. The purpose is simply to enjoy good food, good beer and ale, good conversation—all towards getting to know one another better.

Every other Saturday, at one farm or another, the pit is dug, and the fire started. And by sundown, neighbors from miles around have come together—the women contributing cakes, pies, and coffee, the men contributing the meat for barbecuing, and the beer or ale.

From where I sit, it's this simple wholesome side of country life in America—its spirit of good-fellowship—that makes for tolerance and better understanding between neighbors.

As I say, Neighbor, any one can join up! So come along a week from this Saturday.

Families Must Learn Wise Way To Use Money

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 28—(Spl)—One of the hardest problems that face young married people is that of "how to handle the family income."

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life education specialist of Texas A. and M. College says that a recent study made by Michigan State College found that spending the family income in the wisest way was a problem that took the longest time for families to work out. Half of the people interviewed were able to work out a satisfactory arrangement, but the other half said it took months or years—and some never did agree.

Mrs. Johnson believes that the reason lies in the fact that often young people are not taught the wise use of money while they are young, and then are faced with the problem when they marry, at a time when they are confronted with many other problems of adjustment.

"It takes most of us a lifetime to learn the basic principles of earning, saving, spending and enjoying money," she says. "So the earlier one starts to learn, the better. Too many young people grow up without any independence in using money. Some are kept entirely dependent upon their parents, not only for money, but for every decision as to how the money is to be used. Such dependence is poor background for mature judgment when young people leave home."

She ponits out that children can be included in the family plans for the use of money at a very early age. They can be helped to understand that things cost money and that they have a share in the family money, just as they have a share of the family food and the family home. "Their judgment in the use of money at the age of three, for instance, is not the best, but they learn from example and even more from experience," she says.

"They'll make mistakes and waste their omney," she concludes, "but such mistakes are less serious than those that might be made when the children are older. Wise money habits can be built, if children understand and actually take part in the planning for earning, spending, saving and sharing the family money."

Additional Funds May Be Asked For Aid

WASHINGTON. Oct. 28.—(AP)—Foreign aid officials said today they expect to ask congress for an extra $1,200,000,000 to carry the Marshall Plan through April, May and June of next year.

The $5,055,000,000 appropration for European Recovery will have been exhausted by the end of March —12 months after the program's start—a spokesman for the Economic Co-operation Administration reported privately.

Congress voted the recovery money for 15 months, or until the end of the federal fiscal year June 30, but gave President Truman the power to let ECA use funds in 12 months if necessary.

Truman Approval Sought.

When ECA it was said the president's formal approval of the 12-month schedule may be asked within the next two weeks.

As early as last August, Mr. Truman said a supplemental appropriation of $1,500,000,000 might be needed for the last three months of the program's first phase.

The ECA spokesman said the new estimate of $1,200,000,000 is as close as the need can be gauged at this minute.

In any event, the prospect of further foreign aid outlays has focused new attention on the attitude of congress toward next year's Marshall Plan appropriation. ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman has said that because of Europe's progres thus far, less money may be needed in the second year of what has been projected as a four-year undertaking.

Private Weekly Report.

A private weekly report for businessmen, the Marshall Plan letter, stated today that 94 per cent of senators and representatives who answered a news letter poll had adopted a "favorable" position toward the Marshall Plan in the election campaign. Replies were reported from 33 states.

Sixty-one per cent said they think next year's regular appropriation should be $4,000,000,000 or more, the news letter said. Of these, 11 per cent answered "whatever needed," 15 per cent said $6,000,000,000, 11 per cent $5,000,000,000 and 24 per cent $4,000,000,000. The replies ranged on down to nothing at all.

The publication noted, however, that replies indicate that most legislators "will be sharply critical of the effect ERP is having on high prices in this country if they are re-elected."

Fifty-six per cent said they believe the program is contributing to inflation "to a large extent."

Guinea Takes Sleeping Pill, Then Takes Nap

J. C. Cook, West Garitty Ave., Exall Heights, who has two kittens, a red pullett and a guinea hen for pets, looked down with misgivings at the prostrate bunch of fluffy feathers that had been the guinea fowl.

The guinea hen looked dead, all right. But dead guinea hens don't breathe and this one was breathing after a fashion.

The pet had been all right a few hours before, but it was a changed guinea hen now.

Cook, not too experienced in the maladies of the guinea fowl, covered the pet up in a hastily made bed and wished for the best.

At night the pet aroused, maybe yawned, and resumed its place in the pet parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook found the hen had gulped a sleeping capsule that had been thrown away that morning.

MINISTER-CABBIE REDUCES RATE FOR PIOUS—This is a fifty cent fare that minister-cabbie Kendall W. Burgess (left) is collecting from A. John LaFrance at Milford, N. H. But the cab driver, who was recently appointed by Bishop Wesley Lord of Boston to be Milford's new Methodist minister, said that while he would still operate his taxi business he would charge only thirty-five cents for a taxi fare to the church instead of the usual fifty. DDT Discoverer Gets Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The discoverer of DDT won the 1948 Nabel prize for medicine tonight.

The Carolina Institute, the University of Medicine in Stockholm, chose Dr. Paul Mueller of Basel, Switzerland, as the winner of an award set aside for services to humanity. He will receive 159,772 crowns (about $44,000.)

One of the members of the award panel discribed Dr. Mueller's discovery of the insecticide DDT as one of "inestimable value for the benefit of humanity," thus reflecting the principles in the will of the late Alfred Nobel, which provided for Nobel prizes.

SENATE FIGHT

2. The FBI started an investigation of voting in South Texas

3. Burning of Duval county records and ballots was disclosed in Alice. W. S. Johnston, Republican county chairman of Duval county, said he was told a janitor burned the ballots Oct 20 through a misunderstanding as to the time they were to be destroyed.

State Machinery Sought.

Jester said the Johnson-Stevenson fight "points up the desirability of providing state machinery to investigate charges of election fraud."

Texas Attorney General Price Daniel followed through with a statement that he will ask the legislature to empower the attorney general to prosecute county clerks for failure "to keep securely any ballot box." He noted that this is now exclusively the duty of county and district attorneys.

Indiana Republican William E. Jenner, chairman of the senate subcommittee on elections, whose investigators are seizing Texas voting records, yesterday telegraphed the clerks of eight counties to keep intact ballots and all other records of the runoff.

Most Records Available.

The counties—Dallas, Harris, Galveston, Brown, Eastland, Wharton, Clay and Chambers—are those to whch Johnson said special attention should be given. He named them in asking Tuesday that any recount of votes include those of all of Texas' 254 counties.

Most of the county clerks said they would carry out Jenner's order. Wharton County Clerk F. L. Kral said he was unable to comply because his office had nothing to do with the election. He added, however, that the ballots had been preserved.

FBI field men were sent into South Texas to make a preliminary investigation of the way the election was carried out in that area.

The FBI investigation was started at the request of Assistant Attorney General Alex Campbell, in charge of the justice department's criminal division, to determine whether any federal law was violated in the primary.

Campbell King, Duvall county Democratic committee chairman, confirmed to W. H. Mason, Alice newspaperman, that the records were burned. "I had nothing to do with it," King said.

In Washington, Nelson Deranian, chief counsel for the subcommittee, also confirmed that the records were destroyed. He said committee investigators found ballots also had been destroyed in Precinct 13 of Jim Wells county. There, Stevenson charged, 202 votes were added, most of them for Johnson after the returns had been completed.

Of Duval county, Deranan commented, "That's a violation of Texas state laws."

Wednesday Night Deadline.

Under Texas laws records of the runoff could have been destroyed at midnight last night unless ordered preserved.

Subcommittee officials said in Washington last night that they believe they have an ample number of ballots cast in the primary to conduct a thorough investigation.

However, they did not expect a committee study of the ballots until after the general election.

Deranian said the committee is impounding ballots only in counties specifically mentioned by Stevenson and Johnson because "if we subpoena all the records in Texas, it would have to be on the theory that there was fraud in every county of the state. And I don't think anyone believes there was fraud in all of them."

Meanwhile, Republican State Chairman Henry Zweifel said in Fort Worth yesterday the GOP will ask that poll supervisors be stationed at general election voting boxes in Jim Wells and Duval counties.

CORSICANA, TEX., OCT. 29, 1948

KEEPING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

This is to keep the record straight.

Mr. T. C. Graham, supervisor of production control, Bethlehem Supply Co., Wednesday, October 20, answered an editorial which appeared in the Corsicana Daily Sun October 15.

Mr. Graham stated: "You doubtless recall that in 1928 Mr. Hoover was faced with a rebellious Democratic Congress. This Congress rejected all of his proposed legislation and passed most bills over his veto."

The official record shows that the 71st Congress, which was elected at the same time Mr. Hoover was elected president in 1928, when it first convened after his election, was as follows:

IN THE SENATE:

56 Republicans; 39 Democrats; 1 Farm-Laborite.

IN THE HOUSE:

267 Republicans; 163 Democrats; 1 Farm-Laborite; 4 vacancies.

TOO FAR AND TOO FAST

Warren Austin, the chief United States delegate to the United Nations, made a careful, significant speech to the political committee the other day in which he explained why the United States is increasing its armaments. It might be an excellent idea to install copies of this speech permanently in all the executive and legislative offices and cloakrooms in Washington. For it was a speech made necessary by the fact that we have repeated our own historic errors.

In essence, what Mr. Austin explained was this: We see a threat to peace in the world today. We must arm to meet it because in our delirious enthusiasm for the end of the second world war we cast our arms away in order that we might run unimpeded into an illusory new era of peace and tranquility.

We committed the same error after the first world war. Partly because this error left us with negligible military strength, the reactions of the United States were dismissed as completely unimportant by the European dictators in their planning for the second war. Finally we found it necessary to arm feverishly, in an effort so belated that we were able neither to stave off war nor to be ready for it when it came.

It may be that this time we have discovered the error in time to prevent its results from being catastrophic. If there comes a time in the future when we may again breathe more freely, that will be the time when we should remember these errors, so that we will not again disarm too far and too fast for the conditions of the world in which we live.

RIVAL TO PANAMA

Another Atlantic-Pacific canal is contemplated. The Colombian government has appointed a committee of experts to confer with appointees from the United States to look into the feasibility of a route via the Atrato River. This flows into the Caribbean below the junction of the mainland with the Isthmus of Panama; its course covers half of the distance between the two oceans.

Nicaragua has usually been the choice of searchers for another canal. Lake Nicaragua lies temptingly across the middle of the neck of land between the oceans, thereby reducing the amount of digging necessary. One great objection to the Nicaragua route has been the volcanic nature of the country; some fine morning the canal might be blocked by an earthquake.

Whether the Atrato region escapes this disadvantage will be one of the points for study. In any case it may be emphasized that Panama will not always remain the only canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

INCOME PEAK

Personal income in the United States reached an all-time high in August, according to Census Bureau reports. The annual rate attained was 215 billion dollars. The corresponding total for 1947 was 190 billion dollars. Wage and salary increases, with some expansion in employment, have caused the growth.

This is one aspect of inflation which is popular. The deflation, to which most economists say the country must ultimately come, will enforce a reduction in these lush figures, and that will be unpopular with many persons who now complain about inflation.

HONORING DR. JOHNSON

King George III of Great Britain, whose autocratic meddling brought about our Revolution, is not much admired in America. It is different with one of King George's ardent subjects, who was utterly scornful of America, yet whose memory is revered by thousands of Americans. This was Dr. Samuel Johnson, dictionary-maker, literary historian, author, and inspired talker and clubman. He is a familiar figure through one of the word's greatest biographies, the life written of him by his admirer, James Boswell.

Dr. Johnson's 239th birthday anniversary was recently celebrated in his native Lichfield, England. Devotees from Great Britain and the United States dined on his favorite dish, beefsteak and kidney pudding, and heard eulogies of the genial sage. Other Johnsonians, who could not be there, remembered the occasion in the Johnson clubs which many of them have formed, in this country as well as abroad.

The Scots have long forgiven Johnson for the definition in his dictionary: OATS, a grain which in other countries is given to horses but in Scotland supports the people." And Americans can smile tolerantly when they read his remark that they should be grateful for any fate short of hanging. This was the Doctor to a T, and his followers love him for it.

THE POPULAR FAT MAN

If the people tell you that everybody loves a fat man, don't be too sure he is happy about it. The fat man is jolly only on the surface, says Dr. Herbert T. Kelly, a Philadelphia authority on diet. He says that deep inside himself the fat man feels uneasy emotionally. He eats as a sort of defense mechanism, and grows fatter.

It is known that the thin man beginning to grow fat envies him who isn't, but the thin man who stays thin probably will go on thinking the fat man has more fun. Doctors say, however, the thin man is likely to live longer.

A "union of Europe" such as many enlightened statesmen are now advocating might be an important step toward the salvation of the present world. How much better it could be with Russian co-operation.

It's all right to call for "a stronger democracy," but only a wise man knows where to draw the line.

REVOLUTIONIST.

A revolutionary, he,
Who's deeply loved instead of hated.
The home where order used to be
By him is deeply infiltrated.

A communist, beyond a doubt,
Against all law and rule rebelling;
A threat to everything about
His hands can reach within our dwelling.

Sly as a Kremlin graduate,
His smile appears designed to fool us.
A dangerous schemer, I may state,
With clever plots and plans to rule us.

Yet, of his cunning full aware,
Remembering what some day he may be,
We give him our devoted care
And thank the Lord for such a baby.

THE DAY TO BE WISE HAS DAWNED FOR WHOLE WORLD

Ancient Hebrews Had a Genius For Sound Living—Book of Proverbs Has Perennial Messages—The Homely Virtues Priceless—Ancient Wisdom Rebukes Modern Debauchery

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Every nation prides itself on its maxims and wise sayings. They represent the work-a-day philosophy by which the common people live their lives. The housewife, the peasant, the artisan of the country salt conversation with the pithy sayings which have persisted through generations because these retain so much truth within the tiny enclosure of a few words.

The Hebrews, proud of many surpassing accomplishments, have always been proud of their wisdom literature. There are two books in the Old Testament, Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, which are examples of this form of literature, and passages from both these books constitute the Sunday school lesson for next Sunday.

Wise Counsel For Us All

Hebrew wisdom touches us all where we live. The lesson this week fairly bristles with issues which are pressing in every age—love in the home, honesty in business, diligence in one's work, pure and peaceable living amid the daily tasks of life. Since the days of eighteenth century rationlism, men have bees arguing that it is possible to live a good life without any reference whatsoever to religion, but to the ancient Jews this was the rankest kind of heresy. They believed that goodness at its best grew out of religious faith, and through the centuries Christian teachers, following in their footsteps, have held the same position. Wisdom literature is not only a collection of wise sayings, it is a collection of wise sayings based frankly and openly on religious belief.

Today we have handed over the solution of our ethical problems to the psychologist, the psychiatrist, the philosopher, and the politician. Tomes are written today telling us how a frustrated and neurotic age can attain peace of mind and happiness of life, and all this without a particle of religious faith. Lie back comfortably on a couch, relax, and tell the sympathetic doctor all about your past life. Read more books, get for yourself a seasonable philosophy of life, all your moral problems will be settled. Vote for the right party, and the lawmakers in Washington, and Ottawa, and the different capitals, will arrange everything so that we shall have no more worries.

Always the Individual

All this, of course, is folly at its worst, and we would see it plainly if we would only use our heads a bit. For there is almost nothing of value which anyone can do for us. We have to live our own lives and solve our own problems; and whether we live happily and meet the issues of life satisfactorily depends entirely on the kind of persons we are. John Ruskin was once asked if he did not feel that human life would be made much better with the coming of railroads. "Yes," replied Ruskin, "if better people ride on the trains." As soon as we think about it for a while, we see, as Ruskin did, that everything depends on us as individuals, and the chief matter of consequences concerning us is what kind of people we are in the inside of our lives.

All this is set forth in the Sunday school lesson for this week, either by direct statement or by implication. And there is a further lesson on temperance which our generation may ponder to its profit. Solomon tells how he tried moderate drinking—cheering his flesh with wine, his heart yet guiding him with wisdom—and found it did not work. The inference drawn from his remarks is that the surest way to live happily and effectively is to leave strictly alone the commodity which damages human life so completely.

A National Liability

Looking at the modern liquor problem which grows more serious with every passing year, we see clearly that purely from the economic side liquor is a heavy burden for civilization to bear. It is an unproductive tax on man's resources. The best he gets out of it is the appeasement of appetite and a temporary glow of feeling.

Some serious thinkers sincerely entertain the belief that modern civilization is collapsing before our eyes. Certainly it is changing. In the ultimate summing up, it is the individual who will be the determinative factor—his strength, wisdom, freedom, and resourcefulness. The great crises of civilization have always been periods of dissipation and drunkenness, especially at the top.

Abstinence The Answer

Abstinence from strong drink, even though one is assured self-control and able to afford the cost, would seem to an intelligent person a reasonable price to pay for fitness to meet the changes that seem just ahead of the world. Clear, and repeated, is the New Testament's insistence on the power and satisfaction of an unselfish life. The larger Christian social passion is put behind every personality that would grow strong and symmetrical. It is the basic unselfishness, animated by the Spirit of Jesus, which is the hope for a happier life for every one of us and a better social order.

That the procession of our fate, however
Sad or disturbed, is ordered by a Being
Of infinite benevolence and power,
Whose everlasting purpose embrace
All accidents, converting them to good.
—Wadsworth.

Better keep yourself clean and bright; you are the window through which you must see the world.

Busy Convention Of State WCTU Concluded Here

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

The sixty-fifth annual convention of the Texas Woman's Christian Temperance Union came to a close here Monday night after an all-day session highlighted by more than a score of resolutions assailing the liquor traffic.

Business sessions got under way at 9 a. m. Monday and continued with little interruption until 5:30 p. m. A banquet at Kinslow House Monday night ended the annual affair.

Next year's convention site will be decided by the executive committee.

Rail Sales Opposed

Among the string of anti-liquor resolutoons eagerly adopted by the more than 200 delegates who attended the meeting at the First Methodist Church was one to request the nation's railroads to discontinue the sale of all alcoholic beverages on trains.

The group also voted opposition to interstate advertising of alcoholic liquors, including beer, and declared that "the only sure solution for the problem of alcoholism lies in total abstinance for the individual, and prohibition for the nation."

It also was resolved to combat the liquor traffic's advertisements through "publicity crusade...dealing with authentic, social and economic data."

Educational Project

Featured on the afternoon program was an educational project entitled, "How to Conduct a WCTU Workshop," conducted by Mrs. W. C. Godbey of Houston. Several members participated, answering the questions and arguments raised by anti-dry forces.

A memorial service was held in remembrance of WCTU members who have died during the year.

Mrs. Olivia Davis of Dallas, presided at the afternoon sesison. Littering the huge auditorium of the First Methodist Church were posters depicting the "evils" of alcohol and the WCTU's reasons for wanting prohibition.

One of the posters declared in large letters: "Hangovers Cost the Nation $1,000,000 everey year." Another termed whisky the "Bomb of the Highway." And there was one condeming the practice of putting children in jail with hardened criminals.

Girls Sing Songs

Five small girls, under direction of Mrs. S. Adair Dickson of Corsicana, sang several WCTU-worded songs which went something like this: "I'll Never Smoke a Cigarette....Beer Is Not For Me," and other numbers about smoking and drinking. One of the little girls didn't look big enough to hold a cigarette.

A telegram from Governor Beauford Jester was read as follows:

"I send you official greetings from the state of Texas upon the occasion of your annual convention. Your interest, perseverance and dedication to principle are worthy of sincere respect and admiration. You pay honor to my hometown of Corsicana by choosing it as your convention site."

Musical numbers, devotionals and prayers were the other items on the afternoon agenda.

State Home Lads And Kerens Team Are Deadlocked

State Home of Corsicana and Kerens were still neck and neck in their roughshod race over the other members of the District 19-B loop this week after racking up convincing wins in last week's encounters.

The two leaders have one more game each before they clash on Nov. 5 at Garitty Field here. State Home entertains Dawson and Kerens entertains Frost this week.

On comparative scores, Kerens the defending district champion, appears to be slightly weaker than the Laddies. To date the Bobcats have racked up 140 points to their opponents' 25. State Home has banged out 197 to its opponents' 13. The Laddies are undefeated, while the Bobcats dropped their opening game to Lancaster by a 6-0 count. Both have rolled up large scores against district members, however, and a hard-fought battle is in the offing when they meet next week.

Hubbard and Dawson stayed in a deadlock for second place this week. Both teams won their games last Friday.

Do You Know What The Tidelands Issue Is And How It Affects You And The School Children Of Texas?

The Supreme Court of the United States held in a recent decision that the submerged lands in the gulf and bays bordering our State were the property of the United States Government. Since there has been a United States, it had been recognized as the property of the individual States.

Before the Supreme Court ruling, and while the case was pending before that court, a bill was introduced in Congress permitting the various states to retain their tidelands. This bill passed both Houses of Congress and President Harry Truman vetoed it, thereby upholding the Supreme Court in depriving us of a right recognized since the birth of the nation. Congress promptly introduced another bill permitting us to retain our tidelands which Congress hoped to pass over the President's veto. This bill was passed by the House, but did not reach the Senate in time to be passed before adjournment.

The laws of our State provide that all funds derived from sale of oil and gas leases, royalties, and other purposes from the tidelands belong to the schools of this State. It cannot be used for any other purpose. Millions of dollars are being derived from this source now, and the future promises many, many millions.

The National Democratic Convention in Philadelphia last July put in its platform a plank favoring the Federal Government's ownership of the tidelands, and depriving the State of its ownership. Lyndon Johnson is a candidate on this platform and is pledged to support it.

Jack Porter made a trip to Washington at his own expense and on his own time to help get Congress to pass the bills permitting us to retain our tidelands. Jack Porter is committed to help save this revenue for the school children of Texas and the Republican Party is committed to help us in this cause by a plank in its National Platform.

Texas is the ricest oil producing State in the Union, and has abundant oil reserves in its tidal waters. If we retain our long recognized rights in the minerals under the tidelands, we will eventually have the finest and most richly endowed schools in the United States, without a penny of additional cost to the taxpayer. If we are robbed of this right then the taxpayers of Texas must foot the bill of the growing cost of building, maintaining and expanding our school system. This will mean more tax money out of your pocket.

Consult specimens of the general ballot, and be sure that you support Jack Porter for United States Senator and save our tidelands and the future school system of Texas.

WILL YOU VOTE TO KEEP THE REVENUE FROM THESE VALUABLE TIDELANDS FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN OF TEXAS?

DO NOT SIT IDLY BY AND PERMIT THESE REVENUES TO BE SEIZED BY THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Case Of Russian Held In Texas After Temporary Admission To U.S. Studied

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28—(AP)—Secrecy today surrounded the federal government's investigation into the mystery of Mathieu Tolstoy, 29, Russian who entered the U. S. yesterday under a temoprary visa.

Information concerning Tolstoy was turned over to the intelligence division, Fourth Army, at a closed meeting late yesterday in immigration and naturalization division headquarters at the federal building.

A three-man board of special inquiry was scheduled today to continue consideration of his case. William A. Whalen, chief of the immigration and naturalization service for the San Antonio district, said the inquiry had to be continued from yesterday to allow the investigators time to obtain additional information. He refused to disclose the nature of the information which is holding up the board decision.

Taken Into Custody

Tolstoy was taken into custody by police he had called himself. He was held in the Bexar county jail.

"We are not satisfied with Tolstoy's statement of intentions upon entry into the United States," William A. Whalen, district director of the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, said last night.

"It looks like Tolstoy wants to stay in this country permanently," he said.

Tolstoy arrived on an American Airlines plane from Mexico City late Tuesday night. Mexican authorities had cleared his visa, but U. S. immigration men questioned it.

Temporary Vist

(In Mexico City, the U. S. embassy said last night it issued Tolstoy a temporary visa last January.)

Tolstoy appeared before an immigration bureau review board yesterday, but no informatios was released about the proceedings. Officials would not grant an interview with the Russian and would not allow pictures to be made of him.

When Tolstoy arrived at the airport here, immigration officers put him in a cab with Al Garcia, airlines agent, to be taken to a hotel. When the cab stopped at a traffic light in downtown San Antonio, Tolstoy hopped out and dashed into a cafe.

Garcia told Tolstoy "I guess I'll have to call police" when he and the cab driver were unable to talk the Russian into getting back into the cab. But sToltoy ran to a telephone and put in his own call for officers.

He said later he had become frightened when Garcia told him he would have to appear before the review board. He said he was also afraid of Garcia.

Trolley Service Normal As Strike In New York Ends

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—(AP)—Bus and trolley service returned to normal today for 3,500,000 New Yorkers with the end of the biggest surface transportation strike in the city's history.

Members of the CIO Transport Workers Union employed by the Third Avenue Transit System and Avenue B-East Broadway Transit Co. voted yesterday to return to work. They acted after left-wing faction leaders joined with right-wing leadership of the union in urging a back-to-work move.

Earlier, union employes of the five privately-operated lines involved had agreed to resume work.

The union is pressing the public service commission to grant the transit companies higher fares which would make it possible for the companies to pay about $5,000,000 in retroactive pay increases and other benefits. The commission has not acted yet on pending fare-rise applications.

Blasts Destroy 15 Fuel Tanks

DRUMRIGHT, Okla., Oct. 28—(AP)—A series of explosions and fire early today destroyed 15 fuel tanks at the Tide Water Associated Oil Co.'s refinery two miles southeast of here, causing damage estimated by Supt. V. M. Jagou at $150,000.

The cause of the blasts and fire was not immediately known.

No one was injured.

Plant officials said the refinery would be out of production indefinitely.

Strike End Possible

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28—(AP)—Settlement of the 55-day-old California oil strike was reported near today and there was a glimmer of peace in the west coast maritime strike, entering its ninth week.

CIO oil workers planned to resume talks today with the Shell Oil Co., with both sides optimistic.

"They are awfully close to a settlement," said Glenn Bowers, head of the California conciliation service.

Galveston Grand Jury Bailiff Shot From Another Car

GALVESTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Charles H. Jackson, police officer and special bailiff for the county grand jury, received two minor bullet wounds early today in a running gun battle on a Galveston street.

Police reported that Jackson's automobile was curbed by another car containing five men at 5:30 a. m. while Jackson was making an investigation for the grand jury.

The grand jury currently is making a probe into vice within Galveston and also reportedly is investigating charges of vote fraud in the August 28 Democratic run-off election.

Aids Grand Jury.

Jackson and two other special bailiffs have been assigned to aid the jury in its investigations.

Jackson was given emergency treatment at John Sealy Hospital. One bullet struck his left arm while another grazed a leg.

Police said Jackson pursued the vehicle after he had exchanged words with its occupants.

Deputies at the Galveston Sheriff's office said two of the men in the automobiles were believed to have been wounded by shots fired by Jackson.

Harry G. Black, foreman of the Galveston grand jury, said "this thing has gone too far" when informed of the shooting.

"The city must be in a pretty deplorable condition when people try to take the life of a bailiff who is out making an investigation for the grand jury."

Squirrel Hunter Kills Big Wolf

If you're hunting squirrels and you're suddenly exchanging glances with a wolf, it is better to shoot first and ask questions later, according to G. C. Coffey, 609 North Third St.

Coffey had 60 pounds of bitch wolf Wednesday to prove it.

He loked up and 70 yards across the creek from him was what looked like a grey wolf, a rare animal in these parts.

Coffey brought it down with a 12 gauge shotgun loaded with No. 4 shot.

The wolf was carrying puppies when killed.

Family Food Bill Is Heading Lower Again This Week

By The Associated Press.

The family food bill is heading lower again this week.

Butter prices dropped substantially. In New York wholesale grade "AA" declined to 61 1-4 cents a pound—the lowest since June 10, 1947, when it sold for 60 cents a pound. In Chicago Grade "AA" and "A" were lower.

Retailers in New York cut butter as much as 4 cents a pound during the week to around 68 to 73 cents a pound.

Some butchers said they would be able to give better buys in meat this week end, too. Pork was lower in the New York wholesale market and there also were declines in lamb, veal and chicken.

Early in the week four coffee firms marked wholesale prices up one to two cents.

The Dun and Bradstreet wholesale food index this week declined to a new 1948 low of $6.47 after holding at $6.48 for two weeks. This compares with $6.78 a year ago. The index represents the total cost of a pound at wholesale of 31 foods in general use.

Texas Tidelands Well Seen Sure

HOUSTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. today expressed confidence they have in the making Texas' first Tidelands oil well.

A company announcement today said the No. 2—144 Gulf of Mexico wildcat 15.5 miles east of Galveston, at 1598-1604 feet recovered one stand of black oil, one sand of gas and oil cut mud, and three stands of salt water.

Pipe was perforated with 24 shots. A drill stem test showed nine pounds pressure.

Stanolind officials attributed the salt water show to a faulty cement job and said the well will be recemented at the same depth where the show was obtained and casing reperforated.

District Court Verdict Upheld By High Court

The Supreme Court of Texas Wednesday upheld the instructed verdict rendered by A. P. Mays, district judge, in the case of Robert Lee Devereaux vs. Dr. L. L. Smith, accordinig to an Associated Press dispatch from Austin.

The supreme tribunal of the state refused the application for writ of error and found no reversible error.

The suit was for damages by a patient against Dr. Smith, Corsicana negro dentist, alleging malpractice. Judge Mays ordered an instructed verdict for the dentist and his judgment was affirmed by the Court of Civil Appeals, Waco, and both in turn were upheld by the Supreme Court proceedings.

New Trial Is Refused Moye

Clint Moye, the negro bellhop who got a year in jail and a $1,000 fine last month on a bootlegging charge, was denied a new trial in a hearing before Judge Joe D. Huffstutler Tuesday.

Defense Attorney Joe Simkins said he would appeal the case to the Court of Criminal ppeals in Austin, and he was given 90 days to file his bill of exceptions.

Moye was convicted by a county court jury on September 23 after a two-day trial and received what was believed to be the most severe penalty ever assessed on a bootlegging charge. He was specifically charged with selling a pint of whisky to an undercover agent of the liquor control board last May. O "repetition count" alleging a former conviction was filed by County Attorney Charles Banister in the case to enhance the penalty.

Simpkins asked for a new trial on the allegation that the state failed to prove Moye had ever been convicted of violating the prohibition laws and that at least one of the jurors thought the year in jail-$1,000 penalty was "the least" he could be given. Other matters of law involving the legality of certain criminal court minutes were raised.

AMENDMENTS

The amendment is first on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 30.

AUSTIN, Oct. 29—(AP)—Want to tell the state how the taxes you pay should be spent?

Voters Nov. 2 will have such opportunity when they ballot in the general election on a proposed constitutional amendment that would harness a portion of their taxes exclusively for rural roads and flood control.

Two other of the eight amendments being submitted at the election deal with tax matters. One would preserve the $3,000 homestead tax exemption should the amendment just mentioned be adopted. The other would permit a husband and wife to divide their property between them.

Probably none of the proposed constitutional changes presents more matters for consideration than the tax-harnessing amendment.

Transfer to County

It would transfer to the counties after Jan. 1, 1951, the right to levy the 30 cents per $100 valuation property tax now levied by the state for general fund purposes. The state would be required to abandon the levy, retaining property taxes only for Confederate pensions, college buildings and school funds.

The counties would not be forced to levy any or all of the tax. If levied, however, it could be used for nothing but rural roads and flood control.

The state did not levy the tax in 1946 and 1948, lush financial years which permitted a tax holiday under the present structure.

Opponents View Given

Opponents of the change argue:

1. Road-minded counties might never provide the tax relief now possible under the state set-up.

2. The state would have to find a new revenue source to replace the one it relinquishes. (They hint at a sales tax).

Friends of the change contend that:

1. It permits counties to help themselves in their long-pressing rural road and flood control needs.

2. All counties would be brought on par with those counties which already have been granted full return of the levy by the legislature because of some county "hardship," such as a flood or storm disaster.

In those remission counties, the state automatic tax board would continue to levy the state tax beyond 1951 and return it to the county until expiration of the remission period specified by the legislature.

The amendment is seventh on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 24.

Fifth Proposal Corrective

The fifth amendment on the ballot, H. J. R. No. 35, is a corrective to H. J. R. No. 24. It assures the continuation of the present $3,000 tax exemption for homesteads should voters adopt the amendment changing the general fund property tax.

The proposed amendment dealing with inheritance taxation grew out of a federal law interpretation that an estimate could be taxed in whole at the death of either the husband or wife and again at the death of the second partner, amounting to "double taxation."

The amendment would make it constitutional in Texas for a husband and wife separately to hold property, both real and personal, provided they declare partition of their joint property in their lifetime.

The amendment is third on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 13.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 27—(AP)—How many Texans should a legislator represent?

Who would become governor if the governor-elect died between his election and his inauguration?

Don't rip a blood vessel trying to figure out those questions just yet.

Two Amendments

Answers are rooted in two proposed constitutional amendments voters will ballot on in the general election Nov. 2.

The two proposed changes are the only ones of eight to be submitted which deal with high legislative and administrative matters. Others pertain to a retirement plan for judges, county officials' fees county employe insurance, and tax matters.

Texas Legislatures for 18 years have been ignoring a constitutional directive ordering redistricting of the state following each Federal decennial census. The idea of redistricting is to make adjustments for population shifts so that every citizen will continue to have equal —or nearly equal—representation in the legislature.

Failure to redistrict might leave one legislator representing five or six times as many people as another legislator after great numbers of people moved from one district to another.

But no legislature likes to face the prospect of redistricting. Such adjustments—following population shifts—might find two office holders in the same district, might force a newly-elected senator to run again in two years instead of giving him the usual four-year term, might find office holders divorced from some of their pet support and placed in new and politically unknown territory.

There has been no penalty in the past if a legislature did not redistrict. Nor has there been anyone else to do the job. Therefore there has been no relief from legislative failures after both the 1930 and 1940 population counts.

Senator Moffett Author

Authorized by Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe and backed by a long and ardent scrapper for redistricting, Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, the proposed amendment aims at spurring the legislature into action after the 1950 and subsequent censuses. It would assign the jobs of redistricting to a board should the first legislature following a census fail to perform.

Senator Moffett believes legislators guard their authority too jealously to pass it on to a board, and therefore will no longer shirk their constitutional duty. Should both the legislatare and the board fail to act, the board would be subject to a court order to force it to act.

On the automatic redistricting board would be the Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House, Atorney General, State Comptroller, and Commisioner of the General Land Office. The board, under the amendment would become empowered Jan. 1, 1951.

Succession Not Provided

The matter of succession to the governorship if the governor-elect dies is presently not provided for in the Texas Constitution. Legislators saw last year's squabble over the Georgia governorship similarly possible in Texas unless a line of succession is legally defined.

The proposed amendment would elevate the Lieutenant Governor-elect should a governor-elect die or otherwise fail to qualify before his inauguration. The amendment further empowers the legislature to provide for any further succession not expressly covered by the Constitution.

The amendment is fourth on the ballot, listed as H. J. R. No. 7.

STALIN

Agreement is known to have been reached in Moscow Aug. 30 among the representatives of the USSR, the U.S.A., Britain and France regarding the simultaneous implementation of measures for lifting transport restrictions (the blockade) on the one hand and for introduction of the German mark of the Soviet zone on the other hand. That agreement does not hurt anyone's prestige, it takes into account the interests of the parties concerned and insures the posibility of further cooperation."

Agreement Explained

(The agreement of Aug. 30 provided that the four military governors in Germany should settle the final details. Their negotiations broke down, however, when Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky injected a demand that Russia be given control over the airlift by which the western powers are supplying western Berlin over the blockade. The western powers then took the issue to the security council, charging the blockade is a threat to peace).

"But the governments of the United States and Great Britain," Stalin continued, "disavowed their representatives in Moscow and declared the agreement to be null and void, i. e., they violated the agreement, having decided to refer the question to the security council where the Anglo-Americans have a guaranteed majority."

Asked about an agreement in Paris, Stalin said:

"Mr. (Juan A.) Bramuglia, representative of Argentina and president of the security council who conducted unofficial talks with Comrade (Andrei Y.) Vishinsky on behalf of the other powers concerned, did have in his hands an agreed draft decision on the question of the situation in Berlin. But the representatives of the United States and Great Britain once again declared the agreement to be null and void."

(A six-nation compromise solution of the Berlin crisis, dealing with the blockade and the currency issue, was vetoed in the security council Monday by Vishinsky).

hate Communism" and "the Godless creed it teaches." He asserted with these words the "airlift" will be maintained:

"In Germany, we have taken the frank and firm position that Communism must not spread its tentacles into the Western zones.

"We shall feed Berlin and the people of Germany will be given their chance to work out a decent life under a Democratic government."

Turning to domestic issues today, the President asked for election of congress "to work with a forward-looking President in solving our acute housing shortages."

"Fighting For Housing."

"I have been fighting for such a housing program," he said, "but the leaders of the Republican party in the 80th congress murdered the housing bill."

He added the voters needed election of a congress that will:

1. "Put a brake on the soaring cost of living."

2. "Improve our social security system, not weaken it, as the 80th congress did."

3. "Act fairly and without prejudice on the question of admitting displaced persons to this country from Europe."

4. "Improve the rights of labor not pass shameful and vicious laws like the Taft-Hartley act."

The President moves into New York City at 2:45 p. m. (CST) for a fighting, no-holds-barred, two-day talkathon to be highlighted by tonight's address.

"Peace Offensive."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stalin's attack today on the Western powers brought the initial reaction here that he is trying to put new life into Moscow's waning "peace offensive."

Neither the state department nor any other branch of the government had any official comment pending fuller study of what Stalin said in answer to questions from the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

But some Soviet experts suggested that in view of the tight government control over the press in Russia the questions and answers were about like Stalin talking to himself—meaning that the questions were as carefuly framed as the replies.

What it all added up to was, as one diplomat expert put it, a "darn good propaganda statement."

At least one aim apparently was to associate all the actions taken by the Western powers in the Berlin crisis with the idea of war. Another was to hammer the point that only the actions of the Soviet Union could possibly produce peace.

This has been the Russian propaganda line on Berlin in the United Nations.

District Church Meet Slated At Garland, Nov. 2

Plans for a district church meeting to be held Tuesday, November 2, at Garland were announced at the luncheon and program session of the Woman's Council of First Christian church Monday noon with Mrs. A. B. Horn presiding.

The meeting will be held at the First Christian church of Garland. Earlier plans had been to hold the meeting at the First Christian church here, but renovation of the local church caused the change in arrangements.

Attention also was directed to a meeting of the mission council to be held at Mineral Wells November 16-18, at which the local church hopes to be represented by a group of members.

Announcement was made that Pack-a-Towel kits to be sent through the Corsicana Council of Church Women for overseas relief will be collected at a city-wide meeting November 5, World Community Day. The council membership was encouraged to send as many kits as possible.

The council voted to buy new kitchen equipment.

Mrs. H. G. Dudley, serving as leader for the afternoon program, opened with unison singing of the hymn, "Lord, We Come Before Thee Now," with Mrs. W. M. Forester serving as accompanist.

Responsive reading from Psalms was included in the service.

Mrs. J. Wesley Edens, Sr., spoke to the group concerning the use of devotional books, pointing out the importance of using the right books. She listed "In His Steps," "Shelton of Tibet," the E. Stanley Jones volumes including "Abundant Living," "Great Men of th Bible" and others.

In a talk centered upon the use of hymns, Mrs. Hylan Davis said, "The hymnal is truly a treasure, seeing that the greatest thoughts are here expressed in music and poetry." She asked that interpretation be for the spirit of the song and not simply for melody.

Mrs. C. E. Leighton discussed the subject, "The Bible as Literature." She stressed as important the third, 90th and 121st Psalms, concluding with the Lord's Prayer from the Sermon on the Mount.

The meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction.

Circle I was hostess group for the luncheon. Mrs. W. M. Spear is chairman. The invocation was led by the Rev. Dudley.

Budget Of Texas Government Due 86 Million Rise

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 28—(AP)—Major branches of the state government want 86 million dollars more to run the state's business during the next biennium than they had in the current biennium.

The board of control reported yesterday that requests for the two years beginning next Sept. 1 have totaled $207,806,531 from the judiciary, state departments, higher educational institutions, and eleemosynary institutions.

The board is the state's budgeting agency. Prior to each legislature it hears requests for funds from the state's various divisions and recommends appropriations to the legislature.

Board Chairman Hall Logan said he was not yet ready to announce what the board will recommend for appropriation by the 51st legislature.

Requests prior to the last legislature totalled $146,513,417. The legislature appropriated $121,788,227.

The requests do not include such big expenditures as per capita and rural public school aid; junior colleges; deficiency funds or emergency requests; or the anticipated request for four million dollars to revamp the prison system.

Women To Pray For Peace Nov. 5

American women all over the country are expected to join in a prayer for world peace on Friday, November 5th.

Leading the prayer will be Mrs. Harper Sibley, president of the United Council of Church Women.

The United Council of Church Women has asked all who are able to join in the prayer. Plans call for council groups to hold discussion meetings at a stated hour.

This year, the council—which has sent thousands of food and clothing parcels overseas—is sponsoring a "pack-a-towel" campaign in which cloth, socks, soap, toothbrushes, and other items for teenagers will be sent to DPs in Europe. The bundles will be collected at the churches on November 5th, which has been designated as World Community Day.

"MAN OF DISTINCTION" TO BECOME "MAN OF EXTINCTION" WCTU HEAD SAYS AT BANQUET

"The Man of Distinction" will become "A Man of Extinction," Mrs. Olivia Davis of Dallas, president of the National and World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, told one hundred and fifty members of the state organization who assembled in banquet session a Knisloe House Monday evennig. The occasion climaxed a one-day session of the organization which was attended by more than two hundred members from all sections of Texas.

With Mrs. Claude DeVan Watts of Austin, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Texas, presiding, the meeting was opened with "America," led by Mrs. Myrtle DeEly of Dallas with Mrs. W. M. Forester at the piano. After an invocation by Dr. J. I. Cartlidge, pastor of First Baptist Church, the theme song of the organization, "Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me," was sung by the assembly.

Special music by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young included vocal renditions of several novelty songs and "Back of the Clouds," with "Live Your Religion Every Day," as an encore selection.

Brief Greetings

Brief messages of greeting were brought to the group by Dr. Lucile Dickson, District hostess and general chairman, the Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, Mrs. W. M. Forester, Dr. J. I. Cartlidge, Mrs. J. W. Adams of Mexia, Loyal Temperance Legion secretary, Mrs. Olivia Davis of Dallas, and six-year-old Patricia Ann Jones of Dallas, who represented the Departmeht of Education. A "Toast to Texas" was read by Mrs. M. B. Brown of Austin, poet laureate of the organization, and special music by Tommy Dixon, educational director of First Baptist Church, who sang "The Holy City" to his own accompaniment.

Mrs. Watts, the presiding officer, read telegrams of greeting to the state organization from L. A. Woods, superintendent of public instruction, and Governor Beauford Jester.

Traced History of Group

In her greetings to the organization, Mrs. Olivia Davis of Dallas traced the history of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which was organized in 1883, and is now a working organization in forty-eight nations. She spoke of the recent world congress in Asbury Park, N. J., and revealed that twenty-six nations were represented at the meeting. Mrs. Davis called attention to the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization, which will be observed at Philadelphia next year, and stated that the goal is one million members by 1949. She also spoke of the financial goal, and concluded her remarks by stating that "the man of distinction" will become "a man of extinction" if the WCTU realizes its objective.

Guest Speakers

Guest speakers for the meeting were Dr. R. E. Mendenhall, dean of Daniel Baker College, Brownwood, ann Miss Elizabeth Smart of Washington, D. C., national diretor of legislation and corresponding secretary-elect of the WCTU.

Dr. Mendenhall spoke on the enforcement of present laws, since laws comprise the basis of all civilization. He called upon the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to throw its strength behind law enforcement, and stated that the first step in law enforcement is law observance. He advised members to go home and work for the success of the United Dry organization, appoint law enforcement committees, let the committees work with officials and give encouragement to the sheriff and prosecutors, help secure evidence against law violators, and urge all ministers to preach that it is the duty of Christians to obey the law. Finally he emphasized the importance of sending members to the legislature that will work for law enforcement.

Laws must be enforced if Democracy is to work, the speaker declared, adding that there is no danger from Communism if Democracy is made to work. Enforcing all laws sets the pattern for the enforcement of the liquor laws, the speaker pointed out. "If we enforce the dry laws that we have, we won't have much trouble securing more laws," Dr. Mendenhall concluded.

In her short discussion, Miss Smart told in detail of the work for securing legislation in Washington, and advised that letters from home will often turn the tide for or against pending bills. She staed that Washington is teeming with lobbyists, and declared that the most unscrupulous and highest financed group of all is composed of the liquor lobbyists. She painted a clear picture of legislative aims and ideals in the capital city, and urged the people back home to tell the legislators what they want in the way of laws against the liquor traffic.

Mrs. Thomas C. Jensen of Austin, state corresponding secretary, who was introduced by Mrs. Watts as the woman who had secured 179 new members by July 1st of this year, discussed "Forward Together," the present slogan of the WCTU.

Mrs. W. C. Godbey of Houston, Y.T.C. secretary, spoke of the very effective posters that have been designed for the organization by Mrs. Myrtle Lumsden, Houston artist, and introduced Mrs. Lumsden to the assembly.

After an assembly rendition of "An Evening Prayer," the meeting was concluded with a benediction by Herbert G. Dudley, pastor of First Christian Church.

Greeted Members and Guests

The one hundred and fifty members and guests in attendance were greeted upon arrival at the clubhouse by local, district, state and national officers and invited into rooms made gay with varihued autumn blossoms.

The banquet table decor featured attractive arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums, marigolds and autumn leaves, flanked by glowing yellow tapers in star-shaped crystal holders.

General Officers

General officers of the organization include Mrs. Claude DeVan Watts, Austin, president; Mrs. Olivia Davis, Dallas, vice-president; Mrs. Thos. C. Jensen, Austin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Powell, Waxahachie, recording secretary; Mrs. Chris Walz, Harlingen, treasurer.

Secretaries of the organization are Mrs. W. C. Godbey, Houston, Y.T.C.; Mrs. H. C. Downey, Beaumont, associate; Mrs. J. W. Adams, Mexia, L.T.L.; Dr. Lucile Dickson, Corsicana, asociate.

Jefferson, although he was only 35 years of age, was given the post of honor on the most important of all committees, that which was appointed to draft a declaration entitled, "A Declaration by the Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled."

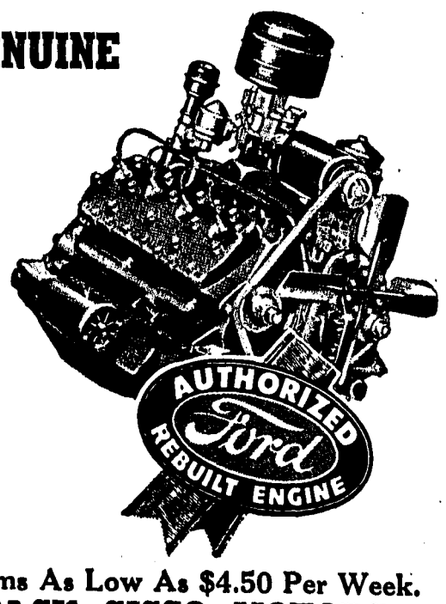

Written in Jefferson's hand, it also includes changes and additions by Adams and Franklin in their own handwriting. It contains the sublime statement which declares this government was erected "of the people, by the people, and for the people."
